For That Tired Feeling.

That steals over you as the days work is over, there's nothing else so good as a refreshing glass of RAINIER BEER. High Ball.

Besides the famous Jesse Moore whiskey, the Anchor Saloon is now serving to customers the celebrated "High Ball," a white malt whiskey marked Cyrus Noble and which with plain soda is considered a beverage for the most particular mortals. Try it.

A'Dieu!

Keep silence now, Her Royal Highness passes by,
KAIULANI OF HAWAII.
Play out the dirge, that mournful cry,
The very bugles give a sigh,
And muffled drums do tell us why—
KAIULANI is passing by,
Loved Alii of Hawaii!

See the flowers so many and so sweet!
White violet, lily, maile and orange-blossom meet;
Followers, countless thousands, so loving and so true,
(Many in full uniform, the Red, the Gray and Blue)
Mourner, Prince, Priest Order and Clan,
Boys and Girls and every Trade of the working-man,
(But, Oh! KAIULANI is passing by!
Dear Alii of Hawaii.)

O wondrous, wondrous sight!
This mixed and motley throng—
Gathered with earnestness and might,
To follow her along;
She is passing to the grave—
Are they not passing, too?
Will they not take a lesson so awful but so true!
Passing by—passing by—
Our girl-princess of Hawaii,
Bonny Alii of Hawaii.

Yes, she is dead and passing to the tomb,
But, where her spirit's fled,
There reigns no gloom;
For, "Angels, Cherubin and Seraphin,
The Heavens and all the Powers therein
Do cry," their praises bringing by.

How hard it is to lay her down,
(That head so worthy of a crown)
And come away, in stillness and despair,
The heavy cross to bear—leaving her there!
"God's will be done," must ever be the cry,
E'en though our KAIULANI passes by!
Dear Alii of Hawaii.

L'ENVOI.

My darling ones, and friends so dear
Heav'n is not far off and I am near:
Into a blessed sphere we pass,
And are "satisfied" at last;
Think, then, of Jesus on the Cross,
Suffering to redeem the lost;
Nor weep for KAIULANI, more,
Safe-landed on eternal shore
Adieu.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The cat in the morning Advertiser says: "The close of the little monarchy has its romantic and pathetic side." Just so, and it also has its mercenary and infamous side, but it may have a day in Court yet.

In its article on the future Governor of Hawaii, as to whether it is to be Dole or Sewall, the Chicago Inter Ocean shows indications of still being the recipient of coin from the Dole annexation syndicate. The Inter Ocean fails to read the signs of the times. Mr. Dole is fast becoming a wayback number.

To Mr. Shingle and the other promoters of the Republican Party in Hawaii, we commend the following bit of wit from Representative Allen, of Mississippi, who said of extravagant appropriations of the House: "At the rate expenditure was going on he predicted that in two years the people would quit licking revenue stamps and begin licking the Republican Party."

We took special pleasure in watching the coming generation of Hawaii in the funeral procession yesterday. The boys and girls from the great school marched in an excellent manner in the solemn procession. We must make a special mention of the young men from Oahu College—the descendants of the missionaries—the boys are not very missionary. The Punahou boys have not had the military training enjoyed by those from the St. Louis and Kamehameha schools, but they made a fine appearance which give an indication that in the future something good may yet come from the home of the family compact.
